INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON LAKE CHAD

ABUJA DECLARATION

We, the Heads of State and Governments of the Lake Chad Basin Countries (LCBC), the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), gathered at the International Conference on Lake Chad from 26-28 February, 2018, in Abuja, Nigeria.

NOTING that the purpose of the Meeting is to create global awareness on saving the Lake Chad from shrinkage and to revitalize the Basin's Ecosystem for Sustainable Livelihood, Security and Development.

CONSIDERING the fact that it is the desire of the Governments of the Lake Chad Region through regional cooperation to safeguard the Lake and given the effect of Climate Change on the Sahel Region witnessed over the past 50 Years.

MINDFUL of the socio-economic impact of the changing weather condition which is increasingly leading to the degradation of the Lake Chad and its associated ecosystem.

UNDERLINING also the adverse effect of climate and ecological changes through draught, desertification, land degradation and food insecurity which negates the stability of the Sahel, West Africa and the Lake Chad.

NOTING further that the Southward migration within the African Continent is driven largely by loss of sources of livelihoods, insecurity of lives and property in the Sahel, Lake Chad region and West Africa in general as well as negating the stability of Central Africa in the long term.

RECALLING that Decision No. 3 of the 8th Summit of the Heads of State and Governments of the Lake Chad Basin Commission held in Abuja, 21st – 23rd March, 1994 launched the International Campaign to save the Lake Chad.

CONVINCED that the endorsement of the conclusion of the International Conference on the Lake Chad, the concern and solidarity of the Heads of State and Governments of the Lake Chad Basin Commission, UNESCO, International Commission of the Congo-Oubangui-Sangha Basin (CICOS), the African Union, the East Africa Community (EAC), the Economic Community of Central African State is highly appreciated by their participation in the International Conference.
